Capture the charm of Paris with this colorful antique oil on canvas painting. Created in France, circa 1890, and set in an ornate carved giltwood frame, the artwork depicts a lively flower market in front of the celebrated Church of La Madeleine in Paris. The composition beautifully contrasts the imposing Neoclassical architecture of the church, with its grand Corinthian columns, against the bustling activity of Parisian street life.

In the foreground, colorful flower stalls overflow with vibrant bouquets in shades of red, yellow, pink, and green, while elegantly dressed Parisians stroll along the market. The artist's expressive brushwork and delicate handling of light create a wonderful sense of movement and atmosphere. The painting is signed in the lower left corner by French artist E. Thioulouze, whose Parisian street scenes recall the work of renowned painter Édouard Léon Cortès (1882–1969).

La Madeleine, located in Paris's fashionable 8th arrondissement, is one of the city's most recognizable landmarks. Completed in 1842, the church is celebrated for its monumental classical architecture and its prominent position near the Place de la Concorde.

The antique painting is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with rich, vibrant colors throughout. The substantial carved giltwood frame, embellished with intricate floral and foliate motifs, beautifully complements the composition. A charming addition to a living room, study, or gallery wall, especially for collectors of Parisian cityscapes.

Dimensions: 26"W x 23.5"H.
