Decorate a wine cellar, bar area, or tasting room with this charming set of twelve vintage French wooden wine crate panels. Crafted in France circa 2000, each rectangular panel was originally part of a wooden wine shipping crate and features the branded name, château illustration, and appellation of a renowned Bordeaux wine estate. The decorative panels showcase traditional French typography, engraved architectural motifs, and vineyard imagery, reflecting the rich winemaking heritage of the Bordeaux region.

The collection includes twelve different wine estates: Château Lagrange, Château de Fieuzal, Château Mazeyres, Château Cap de Biolet, Château Meyney, Château Ripeau, Château Labégorce, Château des Graviers d'Ellies, Château Fourcas Dupré, La Tour du Pin Figeac, Château Le Grand Moulin, and Château Maucaillou. The labels represent celebrated Bordeaux appellations, including Saint-Émilion, Margaux, Pomerol, Saint-Julien, Saint-Estèphe, and Moulis-en-Médoc.

The vintage wooden panels are in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, displaying a warm natural wood finish with subtle variations in tone and grain. Each retains its original printed or branded decoration, adding authentic French vineyard character.

Arrange the twelve panels in a symmetrical grid, as pictured, or display them individually throughout a wine cellar, home bar, restaurant, or French country kitchen. A wonderful decorative collection for wine enthusiasts and lovers of French décor. Additional sets available separately.

Dimensions: 13"W x 7"H (each panel).
