This elegant 19th-century French still life painting depicts a lush bouquet of wildflowers arranged in a simple glazed ceramic vase. Executed in oil on canvas with a richly layered, impasto technique, the work captures a spontaneous yet harmonious composition of daisies, poppies, cornflowers, and grasses, set against a warm, muted brown background. The artist, though unsigned, demonstrates a confident hand and a keen eye for color and texture. The interplay of vivid red, white, and yellow blooms with green foliage creates depth and vibrancy, while several blossoms scattered on the table introduce a touch of realism and movement. Housed in its original, finely molded giltwood frame with foliate ornamentation, the large painting exudes classic French charm. In excellent condition for its age, this antique still life is a timeless decorative accent for a salon wall, entryway, or formal dining room. Dimensions: 24.75" W x 2" D x 30.75" H (framed)
