Add a touch of historic character to a study or cabinet with this striking French drinking horn, crafted circa 1850. Formed from a natural cow horn, the curved body is mounted with engraved brass fittings at both ends, featuring geometric and stylized motifs that enhance its rustic yet decorative appeal.
The wider end is capped with a domed brass mount, while the tapered tip is similarly fitted, creating a balanced silhouette. A pair of metal rings supports the original braided cord with tassels, allowing the piece to be displayed or worn in traditional fashion. The horn retains a deep, rich patina, with natural variations in the surface that highlight its authenticity and age.
This antique object works beautifully as a decorative accent on a shelf, in a study, or as part of a curated collection of historical artifacts.
The piece is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with a warm, time-softened patinated finish throughout.
Dimensions: 16"W x 3" diameter
