Crafted in France circa 1870, this elegant antique bedside table exemplifies the refined architectural lines and classical symmetry of the French Empire style. Built of richly grained mahogany, the petite cabinet features a rectangular black marble top with subtle white veining, providing a sophisticated contrast to the warm wood finish.

The table stands on two rounded columnar supports across the front, each embellished with decorative gilt bronze collars at the top and bottom, and resting on square plinth feet. The upper section features three drawers, including a shallow frieze drawer above two additional drawers, all fitted with decorative circular brass knobs. The beautifully figured mahogany drawer fronts showcase the natural grain and rich patina of the wood.

Beneath the drawers, an open niche provides additional display or storage space. The lower shelf features an elegant concave front edge, echoing the architectural character of the cabinet, while the arched openings along the sides add lightness to its sturdy construction. The original rectangular black marble top completes the classic Empire design.

The antique French cabinet is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, retaining a beautiful warm mahogany patina and attractive gilt bronze accents.

Versatile and beautifully proportioned, this Empire style table would make an ideal nightstand in a bedroom, an occasional side table beside a sofa, or a small accent cabinet in an entryway or study.
