Crafted in France circa 1920, this elegant antique wrought iron chandelier features a rectangular, flat-bottom design with intricate scrollwork and a distinctive Gothic Revival character. The substantial fixture is suspended by four pairs of twisted iron rods, gracefully connected to a decorative crown at the top, creating an architectural silhouette.

The open rectangular frame is embellished with elaborate hand-forged scrolls, curled iron elements, and delicate gilt accents throughout. Eight candle-style lights are arranged around the perimeter, each supported by a scrolling iron arm and fitted with decorative faux dripping candle sleeves. The chandelier has been newly wired to US standards for modern use.

The antique light fixture is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, retaining its original dark verdigris painted finish with subtle gilt highlights, adding warmth and character to its rustic appearance.

Perfect above a kitchen island, breakfast table, or long dining table, this French Gothic chandelier brings authentic Old World charm to any country French or traditional interior.
