Bring a touch of old-world French country charm to a bookshelf, mantel, or console table with this delightful antique terracotta sculpture. Crafted in France, circa 1920, the charming figurine depicts an elderly couple seated closely together on a rustic bench, affectionately embracing one another. The intimate composition captures a tender moment of companionship and reflects the warmth and simplicity of traditional rural French life.

The gentleman is dressed in traditional country attire, wearing a black brimmed hat, a long brown jacket over a checkered waistcoat, a red neckerchief, knee breeches, and tall ochre-colored stockings. His arm rests gently around the woman's shoulders as he turns toward her in conversation. The lady wears a traditional bonnet, a red shawl draped over her shoulders, and a long pleated green skirt. Her hand rests affectionately against his back, completing the touching scene.

Beautifully modeled with expressive faces and finely detailed clothing, the ceramic sculpture retains its original hand-painted polychrome finish in rich shades of green, red, brown, and ochre. The antique figurine is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with a wonderfully aged patina and minor surface wear that enhance its authentic rustic character.

A charming example of French folk art, this decorative sculpture would make a delightful addition to a country home, traditional interior, or collection of antique European ceramics.
