Decorate an entry, study or office with this elegant antique jelly cabinet with carved rooster. Crafted in France, circa 1870 and built of oak, the small buffet stands on a recessed molded plinth base over bun feet. The "Confiturier" (French for jelly cabinet) features barley twist columns on both sides and decorated with floral rosette medallions at the shoulders. The cabinet is dressed with a large drawer across the front embellished with carved foliage and acorn decor and decorated with a wooden pull, over a single door decorated with a hand carved "Coq Gaulois" (or rooster, symbol of France) and reed motifs in high relief. The inside reveals a middle shelf for ultimate storage. The wooden surface has recessed corners and carved edges. The Louis XIII style cabinet is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use. and adorns a rich light oak patina. Versatile, the cabinet could also be used as a vanity in a powder room with the addition of a sink, and the removal of the feet. Key included. Measures: 33.5" W x 24" D x 38.5" H.
