Bring refined French elegance to a bedroom, entry, or living space with this antique Louis XVI style commode, crafted in France circa 1860. Raised on tapered and fluted legs, the chest features a clean neoclassical silhouette enriched with finely carved architectural details throughout. Fluted corner pilasters frame the façade, while delicate bead-and-reel molding accents the upper frieze and base. The commode is fitted with three spacious drawers, each decorated with a central oval medallion motif surrounded by finely carved beaded trim, lending balance and symmetry to the design. Original metal pulls and ornate key escutcheons enhance the authenticity and understated sophistication of the piece. The recessed side panels and subtly notched front corners on the top further reflect the restrained elegance associated with the Louis XVI period. The chest retains a beautifully weathered painted finish in soft off-white tones with a gently rubbed patina that reveals traces of the natural wood beneath, creating warmth and texture consistent with age and use. Elegant yet versatile, this antique commode blends seamlessly into both traditional and contemporary interiors. Key included. Dimensions: 39"W x 19.75"D x 33.5"H
