Celebrate the art of entertaining with this antique "Table de Vigneron" from France, crafted circa 1870. Fashioned from solid walnut, the table features a richly grained oval top with a warm, hand-rubbed patina that highlights the natural figure and knots of the wood. The surface rests on a sculptural lyre-form trestle base, joined by a center stretcher and supported on gracefully arched feet for strength and stability. The hinged top lifts to a vertical position for convenient storage or display, a classic feature of provincial wine-tasting tables used throughout 19th-century Burgundy cellars and kitchens. Its versatile design makes it ideal as a center table, breakfast table, or occasional table for intimate gatherings, while adding a touch of rustic French sophistication to any interior. Sturdy and in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, this charming tilt-top French wine tasting table blends functionality with timeless style. Dimensions: opened 45" W x 32" D x 29" H
