Crafted in Italy circa 1880, this decorative chandelier is made of brass and celebrates the rustic beauty of vineyard life. The hand-painted frame is adorned with finely detailed grape clusters, curling tendrils, wheat stalks, and vine leaves, rendered in soft shades of green, gold, and burgundy. The naturalistic motifs are arranged along a circular frame, with eight gracefully scrolling arms, each fitted with faux wax candle sleeves and newly wired for modern use. The brass construction lends weight and durability, while the painted finish retains a timeworn patina that enhances its antique charm. Measuring 25" W x 25" D x 32" H, this elegant light fixture would bring warmth and Old World sophistication to a dining room, kitchen, or wine cellar, evoking the romance of the Tuscan countryside. Excellent condition commensurate with age and use, ready to hang.
