This bold and elegant antique bench was crafted in Spain circa 1880 and exhibits strong Baroque design influences. Built from richly grained walnut, the piece features turned baluster legs connected by an eye-catching serpentine stretcher, an iconic detail of Spanish craftsmanship from the period. The rectangular seat has been newly upholstered in supple cognac leather, accented with oversized brass nailheads that outline the apron and enhance the bench's architectural presence. The warm tones of the leather complement the deep, hand-rubbed patina of the walnut frame, which showcases the wood's natural grain and depth of character. Measuring 48 inches wide, 19.5 inches deep, and 22.25 inches high, this bench is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use. Its robust form and refined silhouette make it ideal for placement at the foot of a bed, along a hallway, or as extra seating in a den or library. A superb example of antique Spanish joinery and timeless design, perfect for traditional, Mediterranean, or Old World interiors.
