Decorate a wall with this colorful antique framed hand painted platter. Crafted in France circa 1860, and set in a carved oak frame with acanthus leaves and bead motifs, the artwork is painted on a concave round faience platter. The art depicts a barnyard scene, showing a group of hens and roosters in a straw-filled enclosure; the chickens are painted in vivid detail, surrounded by soft golden tones of straw, with a rustic wall in the background. The scene exudes warmth and rural charm, with the animals captured mid-motion, likely feeding or interacting in their natural environment. The painting is signed in the lower left corner by French artist, G. Asselineau, indicating their authorship of this piece. The round shape of the painting within the square frame gives it a unique focal point, drawing attention to the central scene of barnyard life. The thick wall decor is in excellent condition, commensurate with age and use, and adorns vivid colors, blending well with the light frame patinated finish. Gustave Asselineau (1820–1878), was a French painter known for his depictions of rustic, pastoral scenes, including animals and landscapes. Asselineau's work often captured the simplicity of rural life, featuring subjects like farm animals, barns, and tranquil countryside settings. His style is typically detailed and realistic, with a strong emphasis on light and texture. Asselineau's works frequently display a warm color palette, reflecting the serene atmosphere of the French countryside. 28"W X 28"H
