Crafted in France circa 1920, this striking giltwood sunburst mirror features a deeply carved foliate frame radiating around a central circular mirror plate. Boldly sculpted acanthus leaves are inset with alternating clear and smoked cut glass fragments, creating a jewel-like brilliance that catches and reflects the light from every angle. The mirror showcases early 20th-century craftsmanship and decorative flair, with a well-executed back that speaks to its quality construction. The gold-leaf surface has developed a rich, aged patina that enhances the frame's intricate texture and visual depth. Measuring 17 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep, this French sun mirror is in excellent condition with minor wear consistent with age. A radiant decorative accent ideal for traditional, eclectic, or Hollywood Regency interiors, perfect above a console, mantel, or layered into a gallery wall.
