Bring vintage athletic character and sculptural charm to your interior with this antique pommel horse bench, crafted in the Czech Republic circa 1920. Originally used for gymnastics training, the elongated bench features its original, beautifully patinated brown leather upholstery, richly textured from decades of wear. The seat's rounded corners and natural aging give the piece a warm, inviting presence. Supported by four slanted solid wood legs with iron-mounted feet and original locking pins, the bench is both stable and visually striking. Custom steel plates discreetly cover the original handle slots, adding a subtle industrial touch while preserving its streamlined profile. Sturdy and full of personality, this versatile piece works beautifully as a unique bench in a game room, den, or loft-style interior. It also makes a fantastic display stand for a Western saddle or as a one-of-a-kind console in a retail or gallery space. In excellent condition commensurate with age and use, this former gym staple has been re-imagined as a bold, functional design statement. 33"W x 26"D x 39.5"H
