Decorate a powder room or a lady's bathroom with this elegant vintage wall plaque. Crafted in Limoges, France circa 1930 and oval in shape, the exquisite wall decor by Camille Faure showcases the artist's mastery of enamelwork and his signature vibrant floral compositions. The piece features a lush bouquet of flowers in full bloom, meticulously rendered in vivid hues of pink, blue, green, white, and orange. The intricate details and raised enamel textures give the artwork a stunning three-dimensional quality, enhancing its visual appeal. Set against a glossy, deep brown background, the flowers appear to radiate with life, highlighting Fauré's unique ability to create depth and vibrancy in his designs. Encased in an elegant, gilt oval frame with decorative edging, this work is a testament to the Art Deco aesthetic for which Fauré is celebrated. The unique ceramic piece is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with a rich and vibrant color palette. This wall art would make a striking focal point in any interior space. Authentication on the back (see detailed images). Camille Fauré (1874–1956) was a prominent French enamel artist, renowned for his contributions to the decorative arts, particularly through his collaborations with the Limoges pottery company. He gained recognition for his mastery of enamelwork, characterized by vibrant colors, intricate patterns, and innovative techniques. His designs often featured large floral motifs and figurative patterns, blending the organic elegance of the Art Nouveau movement with the boldness of Art Deco influences. Fauré's signature style included raised, textured enamelwork, which gave his creations a striking three-dimensional quality. His artistic legacy remains celebrated for its craftsmanship and originality in enamel art. 11.5"W x 13.75"H
