Decorate a wall, entry vignette, or layered gallery arrangement with this charming antique mirror, crafted in France circa 1920. The petite rectangular looking glass is set within a finely turned walnut frame carved in imitation of bamboo, a motif that reflects the enduring influence of exotic-inspired design in early 20th century French interiors.
The frame features pegged construction and is accented at each corner with distinctive arrow-form finials, giving the piece a sculptural, almost architectural quality despite its compact scale. The warm and rich walnut patina enhances the natural grain and adds depth and character.
The original mirror plate shows light age-appropriate foxing consistent with its age. The piece retains its back support with wire for easy wall hanging. This antique mirror is ideal as an accent piece, perfect for layering with other artworks or adding texture to a smaller wall space. Excellent condition commensurate with age and use.
Dimensions: 17.25"W x 19.5"H
