Crafted in France circa 1920, this elegant antique freestanding hall tree combines classical decorative elements with practical functionality. Standing nearly six feet tall, the gilt brass and metal coat rack features a slender, fluted central column supported by an ornate tripod base, creating a refined and graceful silhouette.

The three beautifully sculpted legs are embellished with classical female faces at the top, surrounded by scrolling acanthus leaf motifs. Each gracefully curved leg extends outward, terminating in a decorative foot, providing a stable foundation. The tall, fluted stem is accented with a molded ring at the center, adding architectural interest to the design.

The swiveling crown features four elaborate double-arm coat and hat hooks, each decorated with sweeping scrollwork and curled terminals. Additional smaller hooks offer convenient storage for scarves, belts, and accessories. The rotating mechanism allows easy access to garments from every direction, making the piece both decorative and functional.

The antique French hall tree is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use and retains a rich, softly patinated gilt finish that highlights the intricate metalwork. Ideal for an entryway, dressing room, or master bathroom, this sophisticated coat stand brings timeless French character to any interior.
