Beautiful and functional, this elegant antique enfilade from Southern France is not to be missed; crafted in Provence circa 1900, the buffet with bombe facade and curved sides, stands on escargot feet embellished with acanthus leaf decor. The scalloped apron is decorated a traditional Provençal hand carved vase flanked with floral motifs on the sides. The cabinet has four curved doors across the front with recessed panels over four matching drawers; the center is embellished with carved music instruments and foliage motifs under the drawers. The long enfilade is in excellent condition with a rich patinated painted finish in the light blue green and beige palette; it could easily fit into any dining room as a serving piece, or in a kitchen or family room for extra storage. Three keys included.
