Add elegance and character to a dining room, breakfast room, or entryway with this beautifully crafted antique French chandelier. Forged in France circa 1920, the six-light fixture features an elaborate wrought iron frame inspired by the graceful curves and decorative flourishes of the Louis XV style.

The chandelier is built around a tall central stem composed of four vertical iron elements, embellished with intricate C-scrolls, S-scrolls, and stylized acanthus leaves. Six gracefully curved double-scroll arms extend outward from the central structure, each supporting a scalloped iron bobeche adorned with sparkling crystal accents around the perimeter. The lights are dressed with original wooden faux candle sleeves, adding warmth and authenticity to the design. Additional decorative details include small floral rosettes around the central ring, a sculptural finial at the crown, and a delicate pendant at the bottom.

The antique chandelier is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, retaining its original richly patinated bronze-toned finish with subtle gilt highlights throughout. The six lights have been newly wired to US standards and are ready for installation. A matching canopy, loop, and chain are included, each color-matched to the fixture.

With its elegant proportions and finely executed ironwork, this impressive chandelier would make a beautiful addition to a French Country interior, dining room, or spacious study.
