This elegant antique Venetian encoignure, crafted in Italy circa 1920, is designed in a rounded triangular form to nest gracefully into a corner while offering both storage and refined decorative presence. The cabinet retains its soft light green painted finish, enriched with delicate hand-painted foliate garlands, ribbon motifs, and classical ornamentation across the frieze and central door panel, reflecting the finesse of Venetian decorative tradition. The piece is topped with a molded-edge marble surface in warm golden tones, beautifully veined with natural movement that provides striking contrast to the painted base. The marble has been professionally restored, preserving its integrity while maintaining its authentic character. Fluted corner posts frame the façade, and the cabinet rises on short tapered legs, reinforcing its balanced neoclassical proportions. The single door opens to reveal fixed interior shelving, offering practical storage within its compact footprint. The painted surface shows gentle age and wear consistent with use, enhancing the overall antique charm and timeworn appeal. This antique Louis XVI style encoignure is both decorative and functional, ideal for a powder room, entryway, or salon. Lock and key included. Dimensions: 25.5"W x 18"D x 36"H
