Make a bold architectural statement with this large contemporary cityscape painting by Russian artist Alexey Alpatov. The composition captures an urban streetscape with buildings emerging through layered, abstract brushwork, balancing structure and atmosphere in a refined palette of taupe, cream, gray, and warm brown tones.

Executed with a mixed-media sensibility, the surface reveals rich texture, washes, and expressive vertical and horizontal strokes that suggest façades, street lines, and reflections. The restrained coloration and softened edges create a calm, atmospheric presence, while the scale gives the piece strong visual impact over a sofa, console, or in an office setting. Signed in the lower right corner, the painting is presented in an elegant carved wood frame with a silver leaf finish, decorated with scrolling foliate motifs and a beaded inner border. The frame's subtle patina complements the tonal quality of the artwork and enhances its decorative appeal.

Alexey Alpatov (born 1968, Moscow) is a contemporary painter known for his atmospheric urban and landscape compositions. Originally trained in engineering, he developed a distinctive style influenced by photography, using layered textures and muted palettes to evoke mood and memory. His work has been exhibited internationally and is collected within the contemporary art market.

The painting is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, and is wired and ready to hang.
