Decorate an outdoor patio or porch with this rare and unusually long antique bistrot table. Crafted in France circa 1860, this elegant pastry table features its original marble top, beautifully aged with soft discoloration, light veining, and surface wear that reflect its authentic timeworn charm. Measuring over 6.5 feet long, the narrow rectangular slab rests on a cast iron base with three legs, each adorned with finely cast floral motifs and remnants of original green and red paint, now softened into a richly variegated patina. Each leg ends in elegant scrolled feet and is joined by a central stretcher for added stability. The three-leg configuration lends sculptural appeal and a balanced silhouette, making the piece visually striking from every angle. Versatile in form, its long and narrow proportions make it ideal as a console, kitchen prep table, or display piece in a retail or gallery setting. A functional and decorative 19th-century piece with enduring character and beautifully aged detail. Dimensions: 79" L x 20" D x 27.5" H Excellent condition consistent with age and use.
