A wonderful fireplace accessory for a golfer, this whimsical vintage serviteur combines practical function with playful sporting design. Crafted in England circa 1970, the brass fireplace tool set is designed around the theme of golf, with several of the tool handles modeled as golf clubs and the central finial shaped as a dimpled golf ball.

The complete set includes a shovel, poker, brush, and tongs, all suspended from a tall brass stand. Each long-handled tool is neatly organized around the central post, while the golf club-form handles give the ensemble its distinctive character. The brush retains its natural bristles, and the shovel features a broad curved pan suitable for clearing ashes from the hearth.

The stand rests on a rectangular brass base raised on small feet and detailed with engraved linear decoration. A low gallery rail surrounds the base, creating a finished architectural presentation while helping contain the tools.

Both decorative and functional, this mid-century fireplace serviteur would make an especially appealing accent in a library, den, game room, country house, or golf enthusiast's retreat. The brass set is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with a warm patinated finish throughout.
