This decorative rocking horse sculpture, crafted in solid brass circa 1960, offers a charming and sculptural interpretation of a classic childhood form. Likely of British origin, the piece is executed in polished brass with a warm, golden patina that reflects light beautifully and highlights the smooth, stylized contours of the horse. The figure is modeled in a simplified yet expressive manner, with a gently elongated neck, alert ears, and a flowing, incised mane and tail that add movement and texture. The body features subtle geometric detailing at the saddle, lending a slightly modernist character to the otherwise traditional subject. The horse is mounted on a gracefully arched rocker base, accented with incised diamond-pattern decoration and scrolled ends, reinforcing its decorative appeal while maintaining visual balance. This vintage brass sculpture is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with minor surface wear and light oxidation consistent with its age, adding to its authentic character. A substantial and eye-catching decorative object which could also be used in any child's room. Dimensions: 34.5"W x 11.75"D x 26.5"H Seat Height: 19" Weight: 47 lbs.
