Decorate a garden, courtyard, terrace, or entryway with this impressive vintage cast stone eagle statue on pedestal. Crafted circa 1950, the outdoor sculpture is made of pierre reconstituée (reconstituted stone), a traditional cast stone material prized for its substantial weight, durability, and authentic garden presence. The proud eagle stands on a naturalistic rocky base, with deeply molded feather details, strong talons, and a sharply defined beak, giving the piece a stately architectural character.

The eagle rests on a separate round cast stone pedestal decorated with fluted side motifs and a carved architectural band around the lower section. The surface has developed a wonderful weathered patina from outdoor exposure, with soft gray tones, natural moss accents, and aged garden character throughout. Heavy and substantial, the two-piece statue would make a striking focal point at the end of a walkway, beside a fountain, on a terrace, or near an entrance. The composite garden statue is in excellent condition commensurate with age and outdoor use, with expected surface wear, weathering, and patina.

Total weight approximately 330 pounds (eagle 180 lbs, base 150 lbs).
