Place this elegant antique fireplace tool set next to your mantel for a refined and functional accent. Crafted in France circa 1970, this Empire-style “serviteur” features a polished brass frame mounted on an intricate black marble base, edged with a gilt gallery and raised on small curved feet. The set includes four essential tools—tongs, shovel, brush, and poker—each fitted with turned black marble handles and crowned with finely cast lion-head finials, adding a regal neoclassical touch. The central stem is topped with an ornate decorative finial, while the harmonious blend of materials—rich patinated gilt and deep marble—creates a luxurious yet timeless effect. Both decorative and practical, the ensemble reflects the graceful classical ornamentation of the Empire tradition. In excellent condition with light wear consistent with age and use, this antique fireplace accessory makes an ideal companion for traditional interiors, bringing character, elegance, and sophistication to any hearth.
