Serve in style with this elegant vintage champagne bucket, crafted in France circa 1950. The tapered vessel is forged in brass with a silvered finish, offering a clean, luminous surface that reflects the restrained sophistication of mid-century design. The form is elevated by sculptural stag head mounts on either side, finely cast with detailed antlers and naturalistic features, adding a distinctive French hunting lodge character.

The cooler stands on a subtle flared foot and retains its original liner, making it both decorative and fully functional. The interior shows light wear and oxidation consistent with age, while the exterior presents a soft, time-earned patina that enhances its authenticity.

The antique champagne cooler is in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, and would make a striking addition to a bar, dining room, or wine cellar, perfect for entertaining or as a refined decorative accent.
