Decorate an entry, powder room, bedroom, or breakfast area with this elegant vintage Italian floral chandelier. Crafted in Italy circa 1950, the fixture is made of gilt tole metal and features a graceful botanical form composed of hand-shaped leaves, scrolling stems, and trumpet-form flowers arranged around a circular frame. Six candle-style lights are set on scalloped bobeches, giving the piece a romantic garden-inspired silhouette with wonderful movement and texture. The chandelier retains a beautifully aged gilt finish with warm gold tones, soft oxidation, and areas of natural patina that add depth and character. The leaf and flower details create a light, airy presence while still offering strong decorative impact. In excellent condition commensurate with age and use, this antique-style Italian chandelier has been newly wired to US standard and is ready to hang. It would bring a charming Mediterranean accent to both traditional and collected interiors.
