Add charm and functionality to a traditional interior with this near pair of antique French corner cabinets, crafted in solid walnut circa 1870. Executed in the Louis Philippe style, each provincial cabinet features a graceful bow front with a paneled door, bracket feet, and molded top edge. While not identical, the pair is closely matched in design, one cabinet measuring slightly deeper and wider by about one inch, though both stand at the same height. Inside, each cabinet offers two fixed triangular shelves, ideal for storing linens, serving ware, or bar essentials. The rich walnut exhibits a warm, glowing patina with visible grain and age-related character. One piece retains remnants of an original stenciled monogram adding to its authentic appeal. Measuring approximately 23 inches wide, 15.5 inches deep, and 37.25 inches high, these Louis Philippe corner cabinets are ideal for flanking a fireplace, anchoring the ends of a hallway, or accenting a dining room or study. Excellent antique condition commensurate with age and use. Keys included.
