Decorate a garden, terrace, or courtyard with this pair of elegant antique planters. Crafted in France circa 1920, each shallow bowl-form urn is hand-carved from stone and rests on a square plinth base. The wide rim is subtly flared and gently rounded, with a classic gadrooned body and a single central drainage hole for practical planting. The urns have acquired a richly textured patina from decades of outdoor exposure, including areas of lichen and moss that add authenticity and timeworn charm. Structurally sound with no major losses, each planter stands 14 inches high and measures 20.5 inches in diameter. Ideal for showcasing seasonal blooms, boxwood spheres, or trailing ivy, these early 20th-century French urns offer timeless character and sculptural appeal. Excellent condition commensurate with age and outdoor use.
