Decorate a living room or den with this elegant pair of antique side tables. Crafted in France, circa 1970 and square in shape with bombe sides, each table stands on cabriole legs embellished with bronze dore acanthus leaves mounts at the shoulder, and ending with bronze sabots over feet; the leg is further decorated with a bronze edging on three sides. The bombe scalloped apron is embellished with gilt leaf and foliage pierced bronze dore mount on all four sides. The table features a shaped surface decorated with a parquetry and marquetry floral inlaid top, and is embellished with a bronze gallery band around the edges. The Louis XV style occasional tables are in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, and adorn a rich walnut patina and dressed with decorative bright gilt ormolu mounts throughout. 14.5"W x 14.5"D x 30"H
