These elegant antique armchairs were crafted in France, circa 1870. Each large fauteuil stands on cabriole legs ending with hoof feet over an intricate curved bottom stretcher embellished by a middle carved floral medallion; it is further decorated with acanthus leaf motifs at the shoulder. The chair features a square back and a deep and comfortable seat, under a scalloped apron decorated with a carved shell motif in the center. The lightly grey painted chairs including the carved armrests, have been reupholstered with a cream fabric punctuated with Classic fleur-de-lis pattern. Both Louis XIV style armchairs are in excellent condition, and adorn an antique patinated painted finish, and would make a wonderful addition to a living room or bedroom suite. Measures: 29" W x 22" D x 46.5" H.
