These antique terracotta figurines were created in Spain, circa 1920. Each figure depicts a finely crafted bust sculpture of a man and a woman, both holding amphora-style vessels on their shoulders. The figures are dressed in traditional Spanish attire, with intricate detailing in their clothing, jewelry, and facial expressions. The sculptures are mounted on decorative pedestals, enhancing their display appeal. The decorative sculptures are in excellent condition with a rich patinated painted finish, and could be displayed on a buffet or shelf. Signed on the underfoot. Measures: 11" W x 6" D x 15" H.
