This elegant pair of Louis XV style stools brings warmth, texture, and French provincial charm to any interior. Crafted in Normandy, France circa 1980, each stool is built of warm beechwood and stands on graceful cabriole legs joined by turned stretcher bars for added stability. The shaped apron is embellished on all sides with hand-carved floral and shell motifs, giving the pair a refined, decorative look.
Each stool features a square woven rush seat with a traditional pinwheel pattern, adding texture and natural contrast against the rich walnut-toned beech frame. The rounded corner blocks, curved legs, and carved decoration reflect the timeless Louis XV style, while the compact size makes them versatile as vanity stools, occasional seating, small footstools, or decorative accents.
