This stately pair of French fauteuils was crafted circa 1950 in the Louis XVI style and features solid oak frames with hand-carved neoclassical detailing. The wood is painted in a soft, aged tone that highlights the fluted legs, ribbon borders, and floral motifs, all emblematic of the period. A delicate floral crest crowns each oval backrest, adding to the architectural elegance. Upholstered in deep green leather with a subtle sheen, the seats and backs are trimmed in antique brass nailheads. The chairs offer a wide, deep seat and a comfortable pitch, making them as functional as they are refined. Measuring 40 inches high by 37 inches wide and 28 inches deep, they are ideal for use in a formal living room, study, or entry hall. The armchairs are in excellent vintage condition with a warm patina and light wear consistent with age and use. A sophisticated and timeless pair.
