Categories: Trays, Plates & Platters

A charming pair of hand-painted faience wall platters from the famed Henriot Quimper pottery in Brittany, France. Each elongated scalloped-edge platter is richly decorated with a colorful pastoral scene featuring traditional Breton figures in regional costume, set against coastal and village backdrops. The compositions are framed by floral garlands and a crowned coat of arms, adding a heraldic flourish to the rustic subject matter. Signed Henriot Quimper and dated on the reverse, these platters were handcrafted circa 1995 and remain faithful to the centuries-old tradition of Quimper tin-glazed earthenware, known for its whimsical folk art charm and enduring craftsmanship. 21”W x 11”H Measuring approximately [insert dimensions if needed], both pieces are in excellent condition and retain their original wire hangers for wall display. Ideal for adding French country character to a kitchen, dining room, or gallery wall.
