Bring French Empire elegance to a kitchen island or home bar with this handsome set of four barstools. Crafted circa 2000 by Mansfield, each tall chair features a gracefully curved wooden frame with a rich pearwood-tone finish, accented with gilt detailing throughout. The combination of warm wood, decorative gold accents, and woven cane backs gives the set a refined and timeless appearance.

Each stool features a rectangular cane backrest framed by a rounded scroll-form top rail, with gracefully curved open arms ending in gilt rosette medallions. The turned front legs are embellished with decorative gilt rings and joined by wooden stretchers and a practical footrest. The gently curved back legs provide additional support and balance. The generously padded seats are upholstered in a textured blue and ivory fabric, offering comfort and an elegant contrast to the warm wood finish.

The four barstools are in excellent condition commensurate with age and use, with attractive patina and beautiful proportions. With a comfortable 30.5-inch seat height, they are ideally suited for a kitchen island or home bar approximately 40 to 42 inches high. A wonderful combination of traditional French Empire styling and everyday functionality.
