This charming vintage carved wood pig sculpture was created by Santa Fe artist Michael Kluck in 1992. Titled Large Munching Pig No. 5, the whimsical figure captures a rotund pig in a gentle grazing pose, head lowered and snout extended forward, conveying movement and personality through soft, rounded carving. Hand-carved from a solid block of wood, the surface reveals visible grain patterns that follow the contours of the pig's body, enhancing its sculptural warmth and organic character. The natural pale finish is accented with hand-applied black spots and subtle pink tones at the snout and ears, while one ear features darker detailing for added contrast. The exaggerated proportions, stout legs, and smooth, polished surface reflect the artist's playful yet refined approach to animal form. The underside is signed and dated: "Michael Kluck, Santa Fe, Large Munching Pig No. 5, ©1992." The piece remains in excellent vintage condition with minor surface wear consistent with age and handling. A delightful decorative accent for a kitchen, library, or country-inspired interior, this substantial carved pig brings Southwestern artisan character and lighthearted charm to any space.
